

Reinforced Concrete Design To Eurocode 2 Ec2

In 2004, BS 8110 was replaced by EN 1992 (Eurocode 2 or EC2). In general, EC2 used in conjunction with the National Annex, is not wildly different from BS 8110 in terms of the design approach. It gives similar answers and offers scope for more economic structures. Overall EC2 is less prescriptive, and its scope is more extensive than BS 8110 for example in... c4858a6eb2

BS 8110 considers that there is no need to support BS 8110. It is based on limit state design principles. In 2004, BS 8110 was replaced by EN 1992 (Eurocode 2 or EC2). Although used for most civil engineering and building structures, bridges and water-retaining structures are covered by separate standards (BS 5400 and BS 8007). In general, EC2 used in conjunction with the BS 8110 is a withdrawn British Standard for the design and construction of reinforced and prestressed concrete structures. The relevant committee of the British Standards Institute considers that there is no need to support BS 8110 c4858a6eb2
